Response to Amendment

1. This action is in response to the request for reconsideration filed on 5/2/07.
2. As per applicant's request specification have been are amended.
3. Examiner acknowledged applicant's request and clarification filled by the applicant therefore rejection 35 USC103 (a) on claims 1-17 has been withdrawn.
4. Claims 1-17 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because they disclose a claimed invention that is an abstract idea as defined in the case In re Warmerdam, 33, F 3d 1354, 31 USPQ 2d 1754 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

In remark applicant argues,

- I. Claims 1-17 contain statutory subject matter and they produce useful results.

In response to applicant's arguments,

- I. It was noted that claims 1-17 are involved in application component distribution system. Applicant submits no substance to the claims so its functionality can be realized. Claims are merely with semantic models and script engine with set of instructions manipulating semantic models are in repository. Applicant also admits that claims 1 and 5 recites "a script generation engine configured to produce..." Therefore, claim 1-17 are non-statutory because claim recites computer program which is set of instruction and are program, per se i.e. the description or expressions of the program are not physical things nor are they statutory process as they do not act being performed. Computer programs do not define any structural and functional interrelationship between the computer program and other claimed aspect of the invention which permits the computer program's functionality could be realized. Therefore, computer program is merely a set of instructions capable of being executed by a computer, the computer program itself is not a process. Therefore, claims 1-17 are set of instruction for manipulating contents of the registry and not able to produce useful results and derive any practical application. Thus claims 1-17 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Regarding claims 13-17 disclosed by the applicant as being a "machine readable storage"... stand rejected. Applicant submit no substance to the "machine readable storage" that readable storage are not supported by any medium. Therefore, examiner interprets that machine readable storage is intangible (e.g., [transmission media, radio frequency (RF), infrared (IR), a carrier wave, telephone line, a signal, etc.]). Thus claims 13-17 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101.

Conclusion

CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
